VISION STATEMENT

This College of Architecture and Design envisions the creation of well rounded personalities capable of producing meaningful architecture and design and become positive contributors to the Society and Nation. The College also sees itself as a forerunner in developing a new line of thinking in architectural education.

Gateway college of Architecture and Design is headed towards the creation of a model school of architecture that others can emulate with ultimately an open access data base that makes it possible for students from anywhere to access the teaching material generated by the faculty.

The basic philosophy of the Gateway College of Architecture and Design is to use the latest technology for creating an effective teaching learning environment but not making the learners slaves of technology. The College will be working on principles that inculcate the use of hand, mind and machine in the world of architecture and design.

Integration of the academic and residential spaces is designed to create a TECHNICAL GURUKUL where student teacher interaction happens perpetually through both information technology and face to face modes.
